Biography

Christine Psalms opened Dancing For His Glory Dance Studio & Company in 2008. She is a native of Washington DC and has received her MFA in dance from Fort Wayne Theological Seminary and Bible College; and her BA in Biblical Studies. She has taught for the past 25 years all over the DC Metropolitan area and held dance workshops & conferences in the Caribbean. Christine is also a Mompreneur Coach and helps moms find balance and be successful in their home and business life without burning out. Her passion is to motivate others to strive for excellence and succeed.

Statement of interest and intent

I would like to become a member of the MDEA Board of Directors as an Understudy for the Private Studio sector to add value to the Board and offer my perspective as a seasoned studio owner of 13 years. With my experience in the inner cities of Maryland, I can offer a different perspective and approach as it relates to educating our community in and through dance in the state of Maryland. I also want to learn from those who have various experiences in working with the youth. It is important that we continue on all fronts to educate our communities on the positive impact dance can have in our youth.

As different initiatives and issues are presented, I know I can give honest and thought provoking insight on how initiatives can move forward for the betterment of the community and how challenging issues can be resolved with little to no conflict. I am ready to help our community continue to thrive and soar in dance education and beyond.
